

Periodicals

Hi, I'm Val Mitchell, here to tell you a little about the Cerritos College Library periodicals collection. A periodical is a magazine, journal or newspaper that is published and issued on a regular basis, whether it is daily, weekly, monthly or annually. They are important sources of up-to-date information on all subjects. We have about 250 active subscriptions to print periodicals and hundreds more that are available in the library databases. Our collection of periodicals can be found in the open stacks, the current display shelves, periodical reserves, the reference area, and the microform cabinets. Be sure to ask a librarian how using periodicals can help enhance your research.
